3. Overarching principles.

In considering bail, the court shall have regard to following overarching principles

- (a) that a person accused of committing an offence is presumed innocent until proven guilty;
- (b) the right to liberty enjoyed by every person under the Constitution in Saint Christopher and Nevis;
- (c) that bail must not be unreasonably withheld and cogent reasons must be shown for keeping a person accused of committing an offence in custody; and
- (d) that where there are factors militating against the grant of bail, the court must first consider what conditions can be imposed to mitigate, minimise or eliminate the likelihood of these factors.

4. Application of these Rules.

These Rules deal with

- (a) applications to the court to review a decision on bail made by a magistrate;
- (b) applications to vary bail granted by the High Court or to revoke bail granted by the High Court;

  - (a) whether there are substantial grounds for believing that the accused will abscond if granted bail;
  - (b) whether there are substantial grounds for believing that the accused will commit an offence while on bail;
  - (c) whether there are substantial grounds for believing that the accused will interfere with witnesses or otherwise obstruct the course of justice, whether in relation to themselves or any other person;
  - (d) whether there are substantial grounds for believing that the accused should be kept in custody for their own protection or, if they are a child, for their own welfare.
- (2) In determining whether any of the circumstances specified in subrule (1) exist in relation to an applicant, the court shall take into account factors including –
  - (a) the nature and seriousness of the offence;
  - (b) the strength of the prosecution's case against the applicant;

- (c) the applicant's character, antecedents and community ties;
- (d) the applicant's record with regard to the fulfilment of their obligations under any previous grants of bail;
- (e) the applicant's health profile as evidenced by a report from a medical practitioner; and
- (f) any other factors which appear to be relevant.

Where an unrepresented applicant makes an application for bail, the Commissioner shall take reasonable steps to assist the applicant in communicating with any proposed sureties identified by the applicant.

10. Waiver of bail application fees for indigent and unrepresented persons.

The requirement for the payment of any fees relating to a bail application does not apply to an indigent person who is unrepresented.

11. Bail application form.
